Planning and Design Firm Opens New Headquarters

Murrells Inlet, SC – The EARTHWORKS Group, Inc. today announced the move to its new Corporate Headquarters at 11665 Highway 707 in Murrells Inlet, SC. The 15,000 square foot building is home to the company’s 55 employees and multi-million dollar consulting operation.

The EARTHWORKS Group, Inc. was founded in 1996 to provide planning and engineering services with its first projects involving land planning, civil engineering and environmental permitting and wetland delineation. The company’s first office was located in Surfside Beach and has expanded its operational facilities three times since its inception.

“This is a testament to our company’s investment in this area and it is also reflective of our growth and reputation as one of the region’s leading engineering and design firms,” stated Steve Strickland, EARTHWORKS’ CEO. “This facility will serve as our headquarters for the company while we explore growth opportunities across the southeast.”

The new facility is designed to accommodate future growth and includes state-of-the-art security and computer network systems, back-up electrical power for emergencies, impact resistant glazing for hurricane survivability and a conference area that can accommodate large groups.

EARTHWORKS was involved in the design, permitting and construction of several coastal recreational facilities including the Murrells Inlet Marshwalk, the Garden City Boardwalk and Children’s Park, and the Vereen Memorial Gardens Boardwalk, as well as numerous residential and commercial developments such as Silver Fox Landing and Queens Harbour. The company works extensively with local, state and federal agencies and specializes in several areas including commercial building design, master planned community design, coastal zone management, wetland permitting and mitigation, stormwater system design, wastewater and water supply design and air pollution control.

The EARTHWORKS Group, Inc. is a multi-discipline consulting firm providing turn-key design solutions with a 55 + staff of Architects, Engineers, Surveyors, Planners, Biologists, Geologists, GIS Specialists and Scientists. For more information, contact www.earthworksgroup.com or call 843-651-7900.
